PRAISE FOR A FAMOUS MEDICINE Mrs. Willadsen Tells How She Tried Lydia

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Just In Time.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham: Donr Mrs. Pinkham :--

"Before I wrote to you, telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady and spent lots of money on medicines besides, but it all failed to help me. My monchly poriods had ceased and I suffered much pain, with fainting spells, headache, backache and bearing-down pains, and I was so weak I could hardly keep around. As a last resort I decided to write you and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful that I did, for after following your instructions, which you sent me free of all charge, my monthly periods started; I am regular and in perfect health. Had it not been for you I would be in my grave to-day. "I sincerely trust that this letter may lead every suffering woman in the country to write you for help as I did."

The trip of the Manchuria, while pleasant in every other respect, was narred by one sad incident, namely the euicide of a passenger, W. Sullivan, who jumped over board and drowned the night before last. Sullivan deliberately ended his life. At about midnight he took off his shoes, which were found on the deck, and jumped into the sea from the lower deck. A lady who was seated some distance off saw Sullivan go over board and told a gentleman, who was with her, that she thought she had seen livan had disappeared.

Secretary Taft, who related the story of the tragedy, stated that Sullivan came from San Antonia, Texas. He was a graduate of Yale. He had book ed as a cabin passenger for Manila, where he intended to visit his sister he had not been in his room at all, sic Cabinets. He drank considerable whiskey al though he was not intoxicated. It is thought that the liquor affected Sullivan's brain and that he ended his life
